

ESF Career Tracking & Monitoring Information Portal

Purpose

- An information portal for policy makers on the international level who are interested in career tracking within and out of research from the perspectives of:
  - Evidence Based Higher Education Policy
  - Research Evaluation
  - Impact Assessment
  - Career Development
  - Gender Issues

Reason

- Career Tracking & Monitoring is often based on personal data which are only available within organizations or countries due to legal restrictions
- Hence there is need on the international level for information about studies and new developments at the national level

Contents – a continuously updated international overview of

- Data Sources
- Studies and Publications
- Emerging Technologies
- Events
- Forums
- News
- Opinions

Data Sources – examples

Studies and Publications – examples

Emerging technologies – examples

Events – examples

Project in 2013

- Working group develops ideas of contents and examples up to a mock up, and collaborates with:
- Expert, who gathers information about user requirements by interviewing possible users and contributors at
  - Funding organizations
  - Statistical offices
  - Associations of research institutions
  - Active researchers in the field